PROFESSIONAL POSITIONS

Dynamic professional and lifelong learner making a deliberate shift from software development to a business-oriented role. Before entering tech, I gained hands-on experience in sales and property management—building strong client skills and business intuition. I then rose quickly in software, reaching principal software engineer, before spending a decade immersed in marketing, leadership, and psychology. I understand people and connect insight to action. Now I'm anxious to bring business acumen, technical fluency, and a people-first mindset to my next role. See References
